PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI to the Court of Appeal - State of California, Fourth Appellate District, Division Two.

MERLIN C. WELCH, hereinafter referred to as "Petitioner", respectfully prays that a Writ of Certiorari issue to review the judgment and opinion of the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Second Division, State of California, entered in this proceeding on November 19, 1975.

THE OPINIONS BELOW

The Opinion of the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Second Division, of the State of California, not to be published in Official Reports, appears as Appendix A, infra, p. i.

JURISDICTION

The judgment of the Court of Appeals, Fourth District, Second Division, in and for the State of California, was filed and entered on November 19, 1975 (see Appendix A, infra, page i). A timely Petition for Re-Hearing was denied on December 15, 1975 (see Appendix B, infra, page vii), and this Petition for Certiorari was filed within ninety days of that date. Important Constitutional issues are involved.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

- 1. Petitioner's appeal from denial of his motion to vacate judgment and motion to quash a writ of execution entered against his property should be granted and said writ of execution should be quashed, since it was issued ex parte and without notice to Petitioner.
- California Code of Civil Procedure,
 Section 681, is unconstitutional since it provides for the taking of property ex parte without notice and hearing.
- 3. The California Family Law Act as incorporated in California Civil Code Sections 4000, et seq., has denied Petitioner due process in its application to the instant case.

STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

"Modification of judgment, order or decree; service of notice. After the entry of a final judgment decreeing the dissolution of the marriate or the legal separation of the parties, or after a declaration of void or voidable marriage, or after a permanent order in any other proceeding in which there was at issue the custody, support, maintenance, or education of a minor child, no modification of such judgment, order, or decree, and no subsequent order in such proceedings shall be valid unless any prior notice otherwise required to be given to a party to the proceeding be served, in such manner as such notice is otherwise permitted by law to be served, upon the party himself. For such purpose, service upon the attorney of record shall not be sufficient.

(Added by Stats.1969, c.1608, p. 3336, Section 8, operative Jan. 1, 1970.)"

California Code of Civil Procedure Section 675.
"Satisfaction of Judgment. (a) Form; acknowledgment; entry.

(a) Satisfaction of a judgment may be entered upon an execution returned satisfied, or upon an acknowledgment of satisfaction filed with the clerk or with the judge, if there be no clerk, which may recite payment of the judgment in full or the acceptance by the judgment creditor of any lesser sum in full satisfaction thereof, made in the manner of an acknowledgment of a conveyance of real property, by the judgment creditor or assignee of record, or by endorsement by judgment creditor or assignees of record on the face, or on the margin of the record of the judgment, or by the attorney, unless a revocation of his authority is filed. Whenever a judgment is satisfied in fact, otherwise than upon an execution, the party or attorney must give such acknowledgment, or make such endorsement, and, upon motion, the court may compel it, or may order the entry of satisfaction to be made without it.

In the superior court and in the municipal courts such entry shall be made in the register of actions; in justice courts, in the docket in the justice court."

California Code of Civil Procedure Section 681.

"Time for issuance; exclusion of time stayed or enjoined. The party in whose favor judgment is given may, at any time within 10 years after the entry thereof, have a writ or order issued for the execution or enforcement of the judgment. If, after the entry of the judgment, the issuing of such writ or order is stayed or enjoined by any judgment or order of court, or by operation of law, the time during which it is so stayed or enjoined must be excluded from the computation of the 10 years within which execution or order may issue. (As amended Stats. 1955, c.754, p. 1248, Section 1.)"

California Code of Civil Procedure Section 685. "Execution after ten years; leave of court, procedure; judgment upon supplemental proceedings. In all cases the judgment may be enforced or carried into execution after the lapse of 10 years from the date of its entry, by leave of the court, upon motion, and after due notice to the judgment debtor accompanied by an affidavit or affidavits setting forth the reasons for failure to proceed in compliance with the provisions of cretion of the court, be sufficient, shall be ground for the denial of the motion. This section does not limit the jurisdiction of the court to order issuance of such writ prior to the lapse of said 10-year period in cases where the party in whose favor judgment is given is not entitled to a writ under Section 681 of this code.

Judgment in all cases may also be enforced or carried into execution after the lapse of 10 years from the date of its entry, by judgment for that purpose founded upon supplemental proceedings; but nothing in this section shall be construed to revive a judgment for the recovery of money which shall have been barred by limitation at the time of the passage of this act. (As amended Stats. 1955, c. 754, p. 1248, Section 2; Stats. 1957, c. 910, p. 2120, Section 1.)"

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS INVOLVED

Constitution of the United States, Amendment V:

"No person shall...be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law..."

Constitution of the United States, Amendment XIV, Section 1:

"...nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Petitioner and Joyce J. Welch, also known as Joyce J. Confer, Respondent herein, were divorced by final judgment of divorce, entered December 2, 1963, Superior Court in and for the County of Orange State of California, Case No. 99139. Certain provisions for child support, maintenance and education were ordered as incorporated by reference into said final judgment of divorce and subsequent modification orders duly entered in said case, based upon a certain Property Settlement Agreement (see Appendix C herein). On November 14, 1973, Respondent applied ex parte to the aforesaid Superior Court for issuance of a writ of execution against Petitioner for the sum of $17,558.5 as set forth in the declaration for writ of execution signed by Respondent, Joyce J. Welch. Writ of Execution was entered for the amount of $17,558.50, said sum allegedly being for "accrued support"; said writ was executed without prior notice to Petitioner and pursuant to same, Petitioner received a notice of attachment - real estate, on December 27, 1973, and subsequentl thereto, said Petitioner received a notice Marshal's sale on January 23, 1974, all levied against Petitioner's real property in the County of Contra Costa, State of California.

Petitioner moved to vacate judgment and quash said writ of execution in Case No. 99139 and a time appeal was taken by Petitioner from denial of Petitioner's motion to vacate judgment and motion to quash writ of execution, entered by Judge James H. Walsworth's order of June 24, 1974, Superior Court i and for the County of Orange, consolidated Cases No. 99139 and 187511.

Said order was affirmed by opinion of Court of Appeals, Fourth District, Second Division, State of California, by opinion filed on November 19, 1975, (Appendix A). Merlin C. Welch petitioned said Court of Appeal for rehearing and said petition was denied as filed December 15, 1975, (see Appendix B to this Petition).

ARGUMENT

I.

EX PARTE WRIT OF EXECUTION SECURED WITHOUT NOTICE IS A DENIAL OF PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS OF LAW.

The Supreme Court of the State of California addressed itself directly to this problem in 1963 in DiMarco v. DiMarco (1963), 60 C2d 387, 33 CR 610. This court held that California Code of Civil Procedure Section 681 allows a divorced spouse enforcement of support rights under a final divorce decree by writ of execution so long as payments have accrued (DiMarco, supra, at p. 394, and Lohman v. Lohman $\sqrt{19467}$ 29 C.2d 144, 173 P.2d 657 and Wolfe v. Wolfe /19477 30 C.2d 1, 180 P.2d 345). DiMarco, supra, did not actually involve issuance of an ex parte writ of execution, however, although clearly the language of CCP Section 681 as compared to CCP Section 685 would allow ex parte issuance of a writ of execution for enforcement of judgment.

Under CCP Section 685 writ of execution may issue only after leave of court upon motion and after due notice to the judgment debtor has been given. The legislative distinction between notice (CCP Section 685) and no notice (CCP Section 681) is predicated ostensibly upon the age of the judgment being enforced, although CCP Section 685 as amended in 1957 states as follows:

"...This section does not limit the jurisdiction of the court to order issuance of such writ prior to the lapse of said tenyear period in cases where the party in whose favor judgment is given is not entitled to a writ under section 681 of this code..." (Stats.1955, c.754, p.1248, Section 2; Stats.1957, c.1910, p.2120, Section 1)

It is interesting to note that prior to 1935, an order for issuance of execution under CCP Section 685 could be obtained upon ex parte application, which was subject to review upon motion to vacate the order and to recall the execution (as amended Stats.1895, c.33, p.38, Section 1; Stats.1933, c.971, p.2499, Section 1). California Supreme Court in DiCorpo (1948) 33 C.2d 195, 200 P.2d 529, although dealing primarily with a noticed motion pursuant to CCP Section 685, stated as follows:

"A writ of execution will issue under the foregoing section /CCP Section 6817 as a matter of right upon installments accruing within the five year period /now ten years/ on an ex parte application by the judgment creditor merely showing that such installments remain unpaid." Di Corpo, supra, at p. 201.

The court further held in Di Corpo, supra, that upon proof by plaintiff that installments have accrued the burden of proof shifted to defendant to establish facts justifying an order recalling any writ issued pursuant to CCP Section 681. Petitioner is aware that Di Corpo, supra, and DiMarco, supra, are cited as the ultimate authority in the State of California and all courts within this State whenever the ex parte issuance of a writ of execution without notice is raised as a legal issue in any judicial form within the State.

Petitioner is also mindful of the judicial guidelines established by the Supreme Court of the United States subsequent to Di Corpo, supra, and DiMarco, supra, as set forth succinctly in Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp., (1969) 395 US 337, 23 L.Ed.2d 349, 89
S.Ct. 1820, and followed in California in Randone v.
Appellate Department (1971) 5 C.3d 536, 96 CR 709, 488 P.2d 13. As cited in the case of In re Marriage of Crookshanks (1974) 41 CA3d 475, 116 CR 10:

"Sniadach and Randone, relying upon the proposition that no person may be deprived of a substantial property right, including the right of immediate possession, without due process of law, require notice to debtor and a hearing as a prerequisite to the issuance of a writ of attachment or garnishment except in special circumstances. The hearing must prima facie establish an obligation and its nonpayment..." Crookshanks, 48 CA3d 475, at p.478.

The Sniadach, supra, and Randone, supra, arguments for procedural due process of law and its application to ex parte writs of exectuion enforcing domestic judgments were made in the California Court of Appeal, Second District, Division One, in Crookshanks, supra; appellant's petition for hearing in that case by the California Supreme Court was denied October 30, 1974. The rationale upholding the present procedure in California was explained in Crookshanks, supra, as follows:

"... In the situation of a writ of execution, the judgment upon which it is issued establishes the obligation of the debtor. The judgment itself was rendered in a proceeding in which the debtor had an opportunity to be heard. In the situation of a writ of execution, the debtor is afforded ample legal protection on the issue of payment since Code of Civil Procedure section 675 given him the right to insist upon a satisfaction of judgment being filed and recorded on the register of actions as he makes payment. (5 Witkin, Cal. Procedure /2d ed. 7 Enforcement of Judgment, Sections 225, 226). No writ of execution can issue on a satisfied judgment." Crookshanks, 41 CA3d at p. 478. Emphasis added.

The Crookshanks, supra, court further states:

"Appellant seeks to avoid the inevitable consequences of the California statutory scheme by arguing that in some circumstances equitable considerations may prevent the enforcement of a valid unpaid judgment. The argument fails since the Sniadach-Randone rule requires only a prima facie and not conclusive showing as a prerequisite to the issuance of a writ. While equitable considerations may be pertinent in a motion to quash a writ of execution, the possibility that they may exist does not detract from the requisite prima facie case." Crookshanks, 41 CA 3d at pp. 478-479.

In the instant case the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Second Division in its opinion states:

"...We adopt the rationale and reasoning of CROOKSHANKS and feel no compulsion to comment further on this subject."

(Emphasis added.) Appendix A at p. 3.

Petitioner submits that the rationale and reasoning of CROOKSHANKS, which incorporates and adopts the present statutory scheme in California concerning issuance of ex parte writs of exectuion in domestic matters, is violative of Petitioner's right to due process of law as guaranteed to him by the United States Constitution, Amendments Fifth, and Fourteenth.

II.

PETITIONER HAS BEEN DEPRIVED OF HIS CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS TO DUE PROCESS OF LAW.

California Civil Code Section 4809 is the present statutory authority governing family law matters subsequent to issuance of a final judgment decreeing the dissolution of any marriage. Said statute requires personal service upon the party

"...and no subsequent order in such proceedings shall be valid unless any prior notice otherwise required to be given to a party to the proceeding be served, in such manner as such notice is otherwise permitted by law to be served, upon the party himself." (Emphasis added.)

Clearly, prior notice is not required in California where there is issuance of a writ of execution in accordance with CCP Section 681, but such notice is required if a writ of execution is issued pursuant to CCP Section 685. Petitioner contends that the distinction between Section 681 and Section 685 is arbitrary, capricious and discriminatory

In California, after a spouse seeking enforcement of payments pursuant to a final decree of dissolution of marriage, has executed a declaration for writ of execution (CCP Section 681) the trial court has discretion to determine in each case whether execution is an appropriate remedy for enforcing its order.

Messenger v. Messenger, (1956) 46 C.2d 619, 297 P.2d 988; Jackson v. Jackson (1975) 51 CA3d 363, CR

CC Section 4809 added by Stats.1969, c.1608, p.3336, Section 8, Operative January 1, 1970.

"Once the writ of execution has issued, however, the judgment debtor must show why the writ should be quashed." (Emphasis added). Jackson, supra, at p.368.

California in Lohman v. Lohman (1946) 20 C.2d 144, 173 P.2d 657, adopted a rule that once a declaring spouse has established a prima facie right to execution (by doing nothing more than declaring the amounts owed and unpaid, and without notice) the burden is "cast upon the judgment debtor to establish facts justifying an order denying the writ." Lohman, supra, at p.150. As stated in Jackson, supra, one reason which the court could consider in exercising this equitable discretion would, of course, be that the debtor has satisfied the obligation, which would be evidenced, presumably, by the procedure set forth in CCP Section 675, allowing recordation on the register Petitioner submits of actions, of partial payments. that under present California procedure, an issuance of an ex parte writ of execution in a domestic case subsequent to final judgment is denied initially only where satisfaction of the obligation is shown on the face of the record. This practice fails to conside the unusual nature of most domestic decrees which, unlike money judgment for sums certain, may require adjustment if any of the following circumstances other than payment have occurred, to wit (1) the child or children for whose support a writ of execution has been issued is dead; (2) the child or children for whose support a writ of execution has been issued has been earlier emancipated; (3) that the circumstances have so changed as to justify a reduction of support other than the amount which appears in the original judgment or elimination of support entirely (as in the case where the child or children do not live with the parent awarded custody and concurrent support.) See Griffin v. Griffin (1946) 327 US 220, 90 L.Ed. 635, Family Law Act, California Civil Code Section 4000, et seq., Stats. 1969, c.1608, p.3314, Section 8, Operative January 1, 1970.

In addition to the factors considered above, the instant case certainly justified a hearing before issuance of the writ of execution when one considers the expressed language of the support provision in the Property Settlement Agreement itself as incorporated into the Interlocutory Judgment and Final Judgment dissolving the marriage, to wit:

"10. SUPPORT. Husband agrees to pay Wife for the support and maintenance of the two minor children of the parties hereto in the custody of Wife the sums of $80.00 per month for each of said two minor children, making a total of $160.00 per month; which sums shall be paid in installments of $80.00 on the first and 15th of each and every month, commencing on October 1, 1961 and continuing thereafter until the majority of said minor children, or until further order of any Court of competent jurisdiction, or until such time as Wife is earning a sum which is reasonably comparable to Husband's basic salary, and Wife further agrees that at such time as she is experiencing earnings reasonably comparable to Husband's basic salary that Husband may cease child support payments to Wife and Wife will at no time in the future attempt to enforce or collect any child support payments which should thereafter become due, owing and unpaid by virtue of any interlocutory or final decree of divorce or modification thereof. Husband also agrees to pay any major medical and hospitalization bills for said children over and above all amounts received by way of insurance compensation." (See Appendix C).

The language of the Property Settlement Agreement itself concerning support, and upon which the writ of execution was issued for alleged accrued "arrearages" decreed that there would be no duty of support should Wife's earnings "reasonably compare" to Husband's, and, therefore, a hearing should have been a prerequisite to issuance of any writ of execution.

Petitioner in the instant case, by virtue of an ex parte writ of execution issued on behalf of his former spouse, without notice of hearing or hearing to petitioner, was faced with a notice of attachment real estate, a notice of Marshal's sale, and public auction of his real property before he could be heard in court (see Appendix D herein). The United States Supreme Court denounced this situation in the case of Armstrong v. Manzo (1965) 380 US 545, 14 L.Ed.2d 62, 85 S.Ct. 1187:

"The petitioner was faced on his first appearance in the courtroom with the task of overcoming an adverse decree entered by one judge... There was placed upon the petitioner the burden of affirmatively showing that he had contributed to the support of his daughter to the limit of his financial ability over the period involved. The burdens thus placed upon the petitioner were real, not purely theoretical. For 'It is plain that where the burden of proof lies may be decisive of the outcome.' Speiser v. Randall, 357 US 513, 2 L.Ed.2d 1460, 78 S.Ct. 1332. Yet these burdens would not have been imposed upon him had he been given timely notice in accord with the Constitution." Armstrong, supra, 14 L.Ed2d at p.66.

In Armstrong, supra, the Supreme Court of the United States rejected the argument made in the Texas Court of Civil Appeals that whatever constitutional infirmity resulted from the failure to give the petitioner notice had been cured by the hearing subsequently afforded to him upon his motion to set aside the decree. Armstrong, supra, 14 L.Ed.2d at p.66. The United States Supreme Court further stated in

Armstrong, supra, that:

"A fundamental requirement of due process is 'the opportunity to be heard'. Grannis v. Ordean, 234 US 385, 58 L.Ed 1363, 34 S.Ct. 779. It is an opportunity which must be granted at a meaningful time and in a meaningful manner. The trial court could have fully accorded this right to petitioner only by granting his motion to set aside the decree and consider the case anew." Armstrong, supra, 14 L.Ed2d at p.66.

The analogy of the instant case to Armstrong, supra, is startling; Petitioner herein moved to vacate judgment and to quash the writ of execution and the "hearing" afforded Petition was clearly not "meaningful" as required by the United States Supreme Court in Armstrong, supra, (see Appendix E herein). The writ of execution against Petitioner's real property had been issued by one judge pursuant to present California statutory authority on procedure and the burden thus placed upon this Petitioner in order to obtain quashal of said writ after its issuance was real and not theoretical (Armstrong, supra, at 14 L.Ed.2d p.66.) Petitioner was denied his opportunity to be heard at a meaningful time and in a meaningful manner, in violation of his constitutional guarantees of procedural due process of law.

III.

DUE PROCESS OF LAW DICTATES THAT CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE SECTION 4809 APPLY TO ALL WRITS OF EXECUTION CONCERNING ENFORCEMENT OF MARITAL JUDGMENTS.

The issues presented by Petitioner deal with enforcement of support provisions of a final judgment dissolving the marriage between Petitioner and Respondent (see Appendix C). In affirming the lower court's judgment, the Court of Appeal in this case adopted the rationale and reasoning of Crookshanks, (discussed supra) even though Crookshanks concerned itself with enforcement of an interlocutory order. (See Crookshanks, 41 CA3d at p. 477, and Appendix A to this Petition, p.3.) Enforcement of support provisions of an interlocutory order of judgment is, of course, not subject to the personal service and notice mandate of Civil Code Section 4809. Petitioner contends herein that prior notice is "required" by due process of law to be given to Petitioner if Civil Code Section 4809 is to be given full effect.

In the case of In re Marriage of Gabriel (1975)

50 CA3d 556, ____CR___, the Court of Appeal, First District, Division Four, attempted to distinguish between an order or judgment settling arrearages and an ex parte writ of execution as follows:

"Husband contends that under Civil Code Section 4809 no order modifying a decree of dissolution or other order in a dissolution proceeding subsequent to the decree, is valid without notice served upon the party himself. Wife contends in her response, that service upon the party is required by Section 4809 only when modification of the decree of dissolution is sought. But the statute explicitly provides that after entry of a final decree service upon the attorney is insufficient to support any 'subsequent order in such proceeding.' (Civil Code Section 4809) The court proceeded on the assumption that there had been no service on husband; the court nonetheless denied the motion to quash, taking the view that Section 4809 applies only to the modification of a decree; the court considered that the motion did not seek modification, as it only called for calculation or arrearages, which wife could have achieved ex parte by applying to the clerk for issuance of a writ of execution. Of course it is true that a writ of execution could have been obtained ex parte. But an order of the court, determining the amount of arrearages, may not be so obtained. The distinction must be made, if the purpose of Section 4809 is to be given full effect; a judgment settling arrearages, obtained without personal service upon the judgment debtor, could otherwise be sued upon in the courts of other states, without a full opportunity for the debtor to contest the amount of the accrued obligation. Moreover, it might in practice be easier, even in the court which rendered the judgment to obtain an order recalling a writ of execution which has been issued ex parte by the clerk than to persuade the court, after it had taken evidence at a hearing, to vacate its own order settling arrearages and set a new hearing to allow the judgment debtor to contest the amount. due. We conclude that notice to husband himself was required, though no modification was sought." In re Gabriel, 50 CA3d at p.558.

Petitioner in the instant case argued to the Court of Appeal that Gabriel, supra, renders a securing of a writ of execution illegal. The Court of Appeal in its opinion stated:

"... To the contrary, Gabriel specifically held that a writ of execution can be obtained ex parte." Appendix A at p. iii.

Implicit in the reasoning of GABRIEL, supra, is the idea that any dispute whatsoever regarding the amount of arrearages can only be determined after the moving party complies with personal service pursuant to Civil Code Section 4809.

Seldom does a domestic battle occur within our courts without some degree of bitterness, occasional vindictiveness and even hostility flowing between the parties; however, under present California procedure, all a declarant need do in order to obtain an ex parte writ of execution with attendant harsh results (as in the case of Petitioner) is conveniently "forget" any dispute with respect to arrearages, or other facts which would otherwise require personal service upon the responding party pursuant to Civil Code Section 4809.

Petitioner herein submits that procedural due process of law guaranteed to Petitioner by the United States Constitution, Amendments Fifth and Fourteenth thereof

GABRIEL, supra, and used as the rationalization for notice or lack of notice be abolished within this State.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth in this Petition,

Petitioner respectfully request this Court to grant its Writ of Certiorari to review the present state of law in California with respect to issuance of an ex parte writ of execution in a domestic matter, postjudgment.

Dated: Pleasant Hill, California March 15, 1976.

APPEAL from the Superior Court of Orange County.

James H. Walsworth, Judge. Affirmed.

Sara M. Lake, Contra Costa Legal Services Foundation, for Appellant.

Law Offices of William J. McVittie, by Michael J. Bidart, for Respondent.

In a brief notable for its lack of professional objectivity, 1/ its references to matters outside the record

^{1/} Three judges of the superior court are charged with malfessance in office, a prior attorney is accused of incompetency, and opposing counsel is accused of joining with his client in a conspiracy of fraud and deceit.

^{2/} For example, "Husband was unable to pay the 1,300-3,000 in retainer fees required by the experienced attorneys he had contacted. . . " "Curtis (prior attorney). . . directly counter to nucland's case. . . " "At that point in the hearing and its convenient overlooking of pertinent authority, counsel for appellant attacks the denial of a motion to quash a writ of execution and an order granting judgment against appellant for unpaid spousal and child support. While every litigant is entitled to a vigorous presentation of his case, shrill invectives seldom substitute for professional competence.

Appellant, hereafter husband, and respondent, hereafter wife, were divorced in 1961. A property settlement agreement was approved and incorporated into the decree. By its provisions, each party took custody of two of the four children. A later modification resulted in the wife receiving custody of all four children and a reduction in the amount to be paid to her by the husband. In 1973, wife secured a writ of execution for unpaid installments on the modified order for support. In 1974, husband filed a motion to vacate the judgment and to quash the writ of execution. That motion was denied, and this appeal followed.

Husband first attacks the constitutionality of Code Civil Procedure, § 674.5, which provides for a lien on a former spouse's property, and of Code Civil Procedure, § 681, which (fn.2 cont.) husband's gesture of disapproval was beginning to disrupt the proceedings. . . " None of these allegations find any support in the record.

provides for a writ of execution on a judgment on the ground that these sections fail to provide for a notice to the opposing party. Neither section provides for any such notice. In ten page: of discussion of the principles of such cases as Sniadach v. Fam ly Finance Corp., 395 U.S. 337; Griffin v. Griffin, 327 U.S. 20; and Randone v. Appellate Department, 5 Cal. 3d 536, husband's counsel simply ignores the case of In re Marriage of Crookshanks, 41 Cal. App. 3d 475 (hearing denied) which rejected a constitutional attack on a writ of execution secured without notice. The same rationale may be applied to judgment liens. The statement in Crookshanks that a judgment debtor can protect himself by recording payments is equally applicable to Code of Civil Procedure, 5 674.5. (See Witkin, Calif. Proc., Judgments, § 140, p. 3287.) It should be added that a lien on real property, particularly on non-exempt real property, is probably not a deprivation. (See footnote 4 of Randone, supra.) We adopt the rationale and reasoning of Crockshanks and feel no compulsion to comment further on this subject.

Husband contends that In re Marriage of Gabriel, 50 Cal.App. 3d 556, renders the securing of the writ of execution illegal. To the contrary, Gabriel specifically held that a writ of execution can be obtained ex parte. Gabriel dealt with notice in an action for arrearages. The only such action here is wife's case So.187511 which was consolidated with the husband's motion to quash the writ of execution and heard on the same date. The husband appeared generally. There was no motion to quash service so any error re service of process is deemed waived. Additionally, it does not appear that the defendant is challenging the service of process in case No.187551 which was the case in which the court granted judgment for unpaid spousal and child support.

^{3/} In addition to this appeal, husband has been before this court on two occasions. (1) On April 16, 1974, husband filed a petition for writ of certiorari to forestall enforcement of a municipal court order for child support, following a plea of guilty to Penal Code, § 270. A petition for hearing was denied by the Supreme Court in this case. (2) On June 7, 1974, husband filed a petition for writ of mandate in this court, presenting the same issues involved in the instant case and asking this court to quash the writ of execution, to direct the indictment of wife and her attorney and also asking for damages in the sum of $310,000. Both writs were denied as was a hearing in the Supreme Court on the petition for writ of certiorari.

Husband next contends that the issue of the writ of execution by Judge Flynn was in some way constitutionally defective since Judge Flynn had been in 1961 a member of a law firm which represented the wife. Again, counsel ignores the provision of Code Civil Procedure, § 170(4), which provides that a disqualification based on employment or relationship with a client must occur within two years prior to the action complained of. Here, ten years had elapsed.

Husband next contends that it was an abuse of discretion for Judge Flynn to issue the writ since it had been rejected by another judge. Granting, for the sake of argument and brevity, that it was improper to present the matter to one judge after another judge had taken no action on it, this does not divest the subsequent judge of jurisdiction. Under Code Civil Procedure, $ 1008, an order made under such circumstances may be set aside. However, this does not divest the court of jurisdiction and there is certainly, no showing of any abuse of discretion on the part of Judge Flynn when he issued the writ.

property settlement agreement are res judicata and foroid the execution. In the first place the clause relied on -- "Each of the parties hereto agree. . .not to interfere in the use, ownership, enjoyment or disposition of any property now owned or hereafter acquired by the other" -- cannot be tortured into a prohibition against legal resort to property to force compliance with the contract or with the court order. The contract itself provided that the provisions for alimony and child support were separable from the rest of the agreement. In the second place, the parties had modified the original agreement which modification had had court approval and had been reduced to a new and additional order.

Husband next contends that there was an oral agreement between the parties, reduced to a stipulation, which changed the amount of child support. The existence of such an agreement was not presented at the trial level. If such an agreement existed, it should have been presented to the trial court for a ruling.

Husband next contends that the court erred in refusing to accept for filing a document entitled "Motion for Costs and Damages." This is a rambling attack on wife and wife's attorney charging them with a conspiracy to wreck and ruin the husband's health and his financial well being. In it husband alleged that they should be charged with various criminal offenses and asked the court to cause an investigation of them and to have charges brought. There was clearly no error committed by the trial court in refusing to give judicial recognition to this document. The charge against Judge Oliver of a violation of the Canons of Judicial Ethics for refusal to accept this document is entirely unfounded.

Husband next charges that the attorney who represented him at the hearing under attack was guilty of professional incompetence. If he was, the record certainly does not disclose it. Also, without support in the record, is the charge that Judge Walsworth, who heard the motion appealed from, refused to consider the matter and denied the husband a hearing. Husband was in court with counsel; the matter was argued, was submitted on the record; points and authorities were submitted, and the judge ruled. As indicated in footnote 2, allegations of husband's dissatisfaction with his then attorney are outside the record.

Husband next charges Judge Walsworth with violation of Government Code, § 68021, in not making a ruling on the motion within 90 days. Again, assuming for the purpose of brevity that this charge is true, it in no way divested Judge Walsworth of jurisdiction on the motion.

Husband's last contention is that Judge Walsworth committed reversible error in denying his request for findings of fact and conclusions of law.

No findings are required on an order made after the granting or denial of a motion. (Pasadena Medi-Center Associates v. Superior Court, 9 Cal. 3d 773, 779, fn. 6; Davis v. Davis, 41 Cal. 2d 563; Waller v. Weston, 125 Cal. 201; Kallman v. Henderson, 234 Cal.App. 2d 91; Mathewson v. Mathewson, 207 Cal.App. 2d 532; Wood v. Peterson Farms Co., 132 Cal.App. 233; David v. Goodman, 114 Cal.App. 2d 571; Perez v. Perez, 111 Cal.App. 2d 827.) "The universal practice in this state is not to require findings on an order made after motion. (Citation.)" (Waymire v. California Trona Co., 176 Cal. 395, 399-400.)

Judgment affirmed.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA - THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1974

 THE COURT: Welch matter. Counsel identify themselves

MR. McVITTIE: William McVittle appearing together with the petitioner. She's the stiff in the Complaint to recognize the judgment of dis olution relative to her marriage; and she's the responding party in connection with the motion, which is also before the

THE COURT: Thank you.

for the record, please.

MR. CURTIS: Alan Curtis appearing for the moving party on the notice of motion to vacate judgment.

preliminarily, your Honor, we discussed this matter with Judge Banyard earlier this morning and were sent out. It was my understanding we were coming out on a notice of motion to vacate the judgment, which would serve to quash the writ of execution.

I've just been brought into this case and I'm not prepared to go to trial at this time on the Complaint, which is contending the reestablishment of a judgment, and I'd request a continuance on that part of it.

MR. McVITTIE: Well, your Honor, I would submit that, first of all, counsel was retained at least a week ago who he first called me. He's done extensive research on the matter, and the only issues to be presented in connection with the Complaint is whether or not the sums are due, and I believe it will be done by testimony. So I don't believe there's any extensive preparation that counsel would have to do in connection with that matter.

Likewise, we announced ready on both matters.

Counsel has previously said -- at least I understood that he would respond to both matters, and I would think that for the administration of the Court, both matters should be resolved at the same time since they arise out of the same set of facts and involve the same sums. One deals with a writ; the other is a judgment for the same dollars.

THE COURT: I think it's all the same. Motion to continue is denied.

MR. CURTIS: Thank you, your Honor.

Proceeding on the motion to vacate judgment, we can handle that separately with permission of the Court.

THE COURT: Do you want to do it now or do you want to do it this afternoon?

MR. CURTIS: That matter would probably be better handled right now, your Honor. We'd like to submit it on the file, only bringing out certain points in the file to the Court's attention, which is the fact that an abstract of judgment was presented to the Court for issuance in 1971, and it was refused and returned by Judge Domenichini, stating therein that there should be a notice of motion — or notice in opportunity to be heard given to the defendant before the abstract would issue.

Under Section 1008 of the Civil Code the parties are required to give notice of motions or orders that come after the final judgment in a matter to the parties so they have an opportunity to respond.

Following that request for the abstract, counsel used another code section and had a certified copy of the judgment issued and filed in Contra Costa County creating a lien on the property owned by Mr. Welch.

In 1972 he filed an affidavit and declarations with writ of execution, and that writ of execution was not issued; nor contained in that writ of execution was any indication that a previous request for an abstract had been denied or any statement of fact that a lien had been created on the property.

In November of 1973 another writ of execution was filed and was issued by Judge Flynn, which created the Sheriff's sale, which we are trying to stop at this time.

THE COURT: All right. Mr. McVittie, do you have anything to add?

MR. McVITTIE: Yes, I do, your Honor.

It's true that we did originally send all the documents down to the Court Clerk for filing and a letter was sent back from the Court relative to the abstract.

I thereafter had my associate, Kenneth Gluby, come down personally to the court to see what provision was required for a noticed hearing, since we found no statutory xxvii theory for it, and he spoke to Judge Lloyd Blanpied in chambers on October 30, 1972.

The judge indicated there need be no abstract of judgment filed, that indeed there was a separate provision of the Code of Civil Procedure which created the same lien, and he cited Section 674.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which I will hand your Honor at this time.

So, thereafter we did file a recorded copy of the interlocutory judgment, together with a certified copy that is of the order re modification, and they created the lien.

There is no hearing required at any time under the provisions of that section, and they have the same force and effect as a lien. Likewise, relative to the writ of execution, when we submitted that, subsequently to the Court on November 13, 1972 there was a transmittal letter confirming the conversation between Mr. Gluby and Judge Blanpied.

I submit, your Honor, there is no question regarding the dollars due. The judgment was for child support. There's been no fraud demonstrated, no undue influence.

I would represent, and this is not testimony of course, but I could have my client testify, that Mr. Welch was put on notice on several occasions by correspondence that there was a deficiency.

amount alleged is due and owing. There are additional sums, your Honor, but they are not set forth in the pleading. I suppose we'd have to file a new pleading to bring it totally up to date.

But at this point in time we request that the motion be denied and that the judgment issue for the arrearage.

Now, the reason I've had a separate Complaint on the arrearage is when each item gets 10 years old, then it's barred by the statute of limitations, so I need a judgment recognizing the total arrearages pled up through, I believe, oh, a year or so ago, whatever is set forth in the pleadings.

with that judgment the additional sums are still good for 10 years from the date of accrual.

Thank you.

MR. CURTIS: Only that as to the Complaint to the judgment, your Honor, we are not in complete agreement with all of the payments as set forth therein, and we have another matter of a stipulation for a reduced amount for a certain period of time, which we have to establish, and I feel that counsel and I could probably work out the arithmetic.

xxix

THE COURT: Do you want to do that by declaration?
MR. CURTIS: Yes sir.

THE COURT: Mr. McVittie?

MR. McVITTIE: I have no objection to that, but I'm suggesting if the Court resolve the judgment except as to minor amount to be set forth, right. There's a few payments off and -- we have no objection, but I would submit that the amount due is almost completely accurate.

THE COURT: Anything further?

MR. McVITTIE: We have nothing further.

MR. CURTIS: Your Honor, only as to the point of the two writs of execution that were issued -- or presented -- one in 1972 and one in 1973, my client feels that those were -- strike that, your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Do you want any additional time to submit points and authorities on your position on the writ?

MR. CURTIS: Yes, your Honor, we'd like to have additional time.

THE COURT: All right. One week. Also, I'll take the issue of the judgment under submission until that time so you can get your arithmetic worked out.

MR. McVITTIE: I see, your Honor. We'll agree on the amount, and then I assume I'd have a week to reply to any points and authorities.

THE COURT: If the Court requests it of you.

xxx MR. McVITTIE: If the Court requests it, fine. THE COURT: Thank you. (Adjournment.)
